Jonice Gray Tucker is a partner in Buckley Sandler LLP's Washington, D.C., office and a member of the firm's Executive Committee. She represents corporate and individual clients in matters initiated by government regulators, as well as in private civil litigation and internal investigations. Ms. Tucker also counsels clients on compliance with consumer protection laws and supervision preparedness.

Ms. Tucker focuses a substantial portion of her practice on representations involving government examinations, investigations, and enforcement actions relating to banking, consumer finance, and consumer protection laws. She has been representing financial institutions in matters involving the Consumer Financial Protection Bureau (CFPB) since it was first established, having served as lead counsel in numerous investigations, enforcement actions, and supervisory matters. Beyond her CFPB work, Ms. Tucker frequently represents institutions in matters initiated by many other federal agencies, including the Department of Justice (DOJ), Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD), Federal Trade Commission (FTC), Federal Reserve Board (FRB), Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation (FDIC), Federal Housing Finance Agency (FHFA), and Office of the Comptroller of the Currency (OCC), as well as state attorneys general and other state regulators such as the New York Department of Financial Services (NYDFS) and the California Department of Business Oversight (DBO).

She frequently handles matters involving:

- Allegations of unfair, deceptive, or abusive acts in violation of the Federal Trade Commission Act (UDAP, Section 5), the Consumer Financial Protection Act (UDAAP, Section 1036), and similar state laws
- Federal and state consumer protection laws, including the Equal Credit Opportunity Act (ECOA), the Fair Housing Act (FHA), the Real Estate Settlement Procedures Act (RESPA), the Truth in Lending Act (TILA), the Fair Credit Reporting Act (FCRA), and the Fair Debt Collection Practices Act (FDCPA), among others

Ms. Tucker also has significant experience handling complex civil litigation involving financial institutions. These cases have included matters brought by private plaintiffs, as well as landmark cases brought by government entities.

Ms. Tucker's representations have included:

- Representing a large lender, with numerous affiliates performing related services, in parallel investigations by several federal government agencies and a large group of state attorneys general as well as concurrent supervisory activity
- Representing several lenders in escalated government supervisory activity alleging redlining, including matters which were closed without further action
- Representing numerous participants in the digital asset space, including those involved with cryptocurrencies, in connection with compliance management, regulatory advice, and investigation defense
- Representing solar finance companies in connection with regulatory matters, compliance management, and investigation defense
- Representing numerous participants in the credit bureau reporting industry in federal actions alleging UDAAP and FCRA violations
- Representing a major credit reporting bureau in a CFPB enforcement action alleging UDAAP and FCRA violations relating to educational credit score and negative option billing
- Representing numerous banks and nonbanks in CFPB investigations, enforcement action, and escalated supervisory matters alleging UDAAPs in the sale, marketing, and/or servicing of ancillary product
- Providing numerous FinTech companies with regulatory and compliance advice as well as investigation defense
- Representing student loan industry participants, playing varied roles in the industry, in investigations initiated by the CFPB and state regulators, including matters closed without further action
- Representing large financial institutions in internal investigations alleging, among other things, misconduct in connection with the performance of core job functions and other improprieties in the workplace (including kickbacks)
- Representing a top U.S. bank in precedent-setting lawsuits brought by municipalities, under the FHA, in the wake of the foreclosure crisis
- Representing a top U.S. bank in concurrent investigations and enforcement actions by the DOJ, the OCC, and the FRB related to allegations of discriminatory mortgage lending practices
- Representing several bank and nonbank entities in concurrent investigations initiated by the FHFA related to the FHFA's investments in residential

mortgage back securities

- Representing two large, nonbank mortgage servicers in landmark enforcement actions brought by the FTC
- Representing a large bank in connection with the settlement of a nationwide class action alleging mortgage fraud and predatory lending
- Representing a large bank in connection with a putative class alleging discrimination in connection with indirect auto lending
- Representing several nonbank servicers in consumer protection investigations and enforcement actions brought by state attorneys general, including multistate groups
- Assisting bank and nonbank finance companies with the development and/or enhancement of compliance management systems
- Providing fair and responsible banking advice to financial institutions of varying sizes, including conducting compliance management and fair lending risk assessments

Ms. Tucker has been recognized in Chambers USA as a leading lawyer in the area of Financial Services Regulation: Banking (Enforcement & Investigations), where she was described as "very knowledgeable in the area," "very defense-oriented in terms of thinking about the risks," "very well connected in the regulatory world," and "our go-to person for matters relating to the CFPB." She also has been recognized by Best Lawyers in the areas of Banking and Finance Law, in Super Lawyers in the areas of Banking, Consumer Law, and Civil Litigation Defense, and in Legal 500 in Litigation.
